

In the brevity of less than two hundred pages the volume perforce takes the aspect, to some extent, of a guide-book, as our journey proceeds from north to south, down the land and along the sea-board of Dalmatia.

Our thanks are due to the courtesy of the Directors of the Lloyd-Triestino Company, who gave us free passage in their excellent steamship the Duino.

I must add that dates before our era are marked B.C., those of anno Domini stand alone.

HORATIO F. BROWN.

VENICE, November 1924.
